

Why should you use automatic hand dryers ? Would it not be far more environmentally friendly to use paper towels as these can be recycled and produced from recycled materials?

There are arguments both for and against the installation of automatic hand dryers. Whilst paper towels can appear to be drastically cheaper – they are an ongoing necessity. When you take into account the amount of time, energy and man power it takes to produce a paper towel from start to finish and add this up over a long period of time, you will find that purchasing automatic hand dryers will probably work out to be far more cost effective.